McCulloch Looms As Victor In Stark County Vote

JUNIOR SENATOR IS EXPECTED TO TOP HIS TICKET

Strong Comeback Viewed In Light Of Political Miracle

WOMEN FACTOR IN COMING ELECTION

Work Of Republican Organization Gaining Momentum

By JOSEPH K. VODREY

Staff Correspondent for The News

CANTON, Oct. 27.—Roscoe C. McCulloch's rapid development of strength throughout the state in his contest with Robert J. Bulkley for election to the U. S. senate can be gauged quite accurately by the sudden increase in McCulloch's sentiment in his home county of Stark.

Regarded two weeks ago as a virtual loser, McCulloch today stands in the light of probable victory and even is selected by many political observers to run ahead of Governor Cooper. For anybody to have hinted at such a result a fortnight ago would have laid him open to general ridicule.

Comeback Strong

Senator McCulloch's strong comeback is regarded as one of the miracles of modern politics and is an acknowledgment of the powerful position women have taken in the voting field. No one seriously doubts that a McCulloch victory can be attributed to anything but the genuine interest his campaign has aroused among women.

Stark county all through the early stages of McCulloch's campaign had remained lukewarm or even cooler to his appeal. With election barely more than a week ahead, the fires under Bulkley's kettle gradually have cooled down while McCulloch's pot is starting to boil.

It wasn't so long ago that luncheon and dinner table conversation concerning the election was frequent but limited to glowing remarks about Bulkley and beer. Today the election is an even more frequent subject but the topic is more varied. Republicans who formerly warmed to the thought of cooling beer have rationalized that their ballot for Bulkley would be but a futile gesture and rather than waste it on a rapidly fading mirage, recall that there are important

LONDON NAVAL TREATY LIMITS BATTLE CRAFT

Agreement Binds United States, England And Japan

PRESIDENT SEES CONFIDENCE ERA

Hopes France And Italy Will Eventually Join Group

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—President Hoover asserted today as the London naval treaty became binding upon the United States, Great Britain and Japan that it was "fair to all and dangerous to none" and substantiated mutual trust, good-will and confidence for suspicion among nations.

The chief executive joined Premier MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Hamaguchi of Japan. In an international broadcast celebrating the depositing of the instruments of ratification in which, for the first time, three major naval powers covenant to limit all types of fighting vessels.

"It is a pleasure to felicitate the peoples of Great Britain and Japan, and the people of this country, upon the conclusion of a sound and reasonable agreement between them, fair to all and dangerous to none, which has been accepted by each nation as affording adequate protection and which substitutes for suspicion and competition mutual trust, good-will and confidence," President Hoover said.

At the same time he expressed a hope that France and Italy would eventually reach an agreement and become full partners in the treaty.

Seek Understanding

"They have been making active efforts within the last few months," the chief executive said, "to arrive at a complete understanding. The people of Great Britain, Japan and the United States, and indeed the peoples of the whole world, have watched these efforts and confidently hope that patience and good-will may yet lead to a solution."

Mr. Hoover's address, which took six minutes to deliver and was transmitted by radio to every section of the world, along with those of the representatives of the other two governments, follows in full text:

"Today the governments of Great Britain, Japan and the United States have deposited the instruments of ratification to the London naval treaty. Prime Minister MacDonald and Premier Hamaguchi are joining with me in speaking to you to mark the significance of this realization of further advancement in the world's hopes of a practical limitation of naval armament."

"The task begun 18 months ago for the limitation of all types of naval vessels thus draws to a close. The naval powers have bridged obstacles and achieved an understanding to relieve their peoples of

STEEL MERGER SUIT RESUMED

and Week; Chief Council for Bethlehem Continues Statement

(By United Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 27.—Arguments in the Youngstown Sheet & Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger trial entered their second week today with Frederick H. Wood, chief counsel for Bethlehem, continuing his closing statement.

Wood began his argument last Thursday and indicated he would not finish before late today or early tomorrow. He will be followed by J. Eugene Bennett of the merger forces.

Wood has challenged Cyrus S. Eaton's right to bring the suits seeking to overthrow the merger, contending Eaton has adequate recourse to law in another kind of action, namely, a suit to have a cash value fixed on his dissenting share.

BALLYHOO COMMON SENSE

The outstanding political development in Ohio during the week has been the increasing strength of Senator McCulloch's campaign for reelection to the United States senate. A good many people who were deceived by the extensive ballyhoo given Mr. Bulkley have realized that noise doesn't win races—political races of any other kind.

Mr. Bulkley started his campaign first. The faction which backed him raised a great hullabaloo. Those to whom they directed their appeals joined in to the end that Mr.
Bulkley's name became known widely almost overnight. It was natural that attention should be directed to him rather than to Senator McCulloch, who has conducted his campaign on more conservative lines.

The Bulkley ballyhoo has weakened. In some quarters it has died down completely. In its place there is sane reasoning, a growing realization that there is work to be done.
Mr. Bulkley, as a matter of fact, never has reached voters in the rural sections and the smaller cities and now they and the metropolitan dries are beginning to talk McCulloch—not loudly but with that seriousness which means business at the polls November 4.

We predict that Senator McCulloch, this newspaper's choice for the senatorship on the strength of his personal ability and the soundness of his campaign issues, will increase the lead he now holds over Mr.
Bulkley in many sections of the state. He has held it all along but until the McCulloch supporters started to make themselves heard above the Bulkley ballyhoo a lot of people didn't realize it.

U. S. LOSES A BET

The state department of the United States, when it laid an embargo on arms for revolutionists in Brazil and received orders for arms from the established government, gamble that the government would be victorious. While the policy of offering aid to established governments is well-established, there was the chance that the revolutionists might win and place the United States in an awkward position. The resignation of President Washington Luis, the desertion of a large part of the government troops to the revolutionary side, and surrender of the government building Friday means to Americans that their state department has lost its bet.
To Brazilians, it means an opportunity to establish a better government.

The revolution in Brazil is related closely to previous revolutions in Bolivia, Peru and Argentina. In each of them economic depression supplied the spark, and in each of them a demand for more democracy and a more enlightened type of nationalism were the inflammable material.

The deposed presidents were victims of circumstances over which they had no control. In a manner of speaking they were sacrifices to a widespread demand for closer adherence to constitutional and Democratic practice. It is entirely incidental that the demands had to be translated into reality by force of arms.

The revolutions in Brazil and Bolivia had another thing in common.
Both were aimed partly at presidents who imposed successors of their own choice by alleged illegal manipulation of the electoral machinery. Similarly the revolutions in Peru and Argentina were staged largely because the presidents were continually setting aside constitutional practice and governing illegally.

Paul VanOrden Shaw, an authority in Latin American affairs, who recently visited Brazil, chooses to interpret the revolutionary movement in that country and others in the following way:

"The revolutions are manifestations of new social strength rather than of political instability. The upper and lower classes are being welded together by a more enlightened middle class and proletariat. Education is bringing in its first political returns. . . . The world has become too small for the Latin American nations to continue on reckless paths of political play. They must conform to international rules of etiquette. The 'people' are sensing this. They are forcible bringing to the attention of their governments the rules of the game and are offering themselves as the referees."

That is for the future, however.
Brazil's new government may be disappointing, or it may be eminently successful. A present consideration which troubles American merchants is: how will Uncle Sam pay the bet he lost?

What Others Say

IT MAKES THEM TALK

Gilbert K. Chesterton who does very well in maintaining a reputation for saying things that make people talk is at it again. In an interview at Chicago he pictures women in revolt at having too much liberty. Now watch the women turn of mind and watch Mr.
Chesterton smile. Incidentally it will help attendance at his lectures if he is in America on the usual mission of English literary lights.
Chesterton is not alone in his point of view. Only a few days ago another intelligent foreign observer hailed the return of longer hair and skirts as a sure sign that women are eager to resume the badges of femininity and "servitude" they were so anxious to discard a few short seasons ago.

The wholesale entrance of women into business in search of "freedom" meant a big loss of the finer things of domestic life, says Chesterton, talking like a repressed Victorian, which he certainly is not.
Probably he is expressing the innate love of domestic comfort and an ordered home life, which even the most radical Englishman can't live down.

But though he describes the science of domestic pursuits in alluring terms, and draws a lovely picture of the creative artistry possible with the needle and skillet, it is not likely that he'll persuade many American girls to abandon the typewriter for the dishpan. At least no more than will normally make that change as an incident to marriage and the establishment of a household.

One feels that he is simply being consistently Chestertonian in predicting a feminine revolt to get out of being free—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Clouds Rolled Back

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Diary of

ton. So prowling about the shops

45th street and thought of a neat mystery plot, yet when I telephoned it to Arthur Somers Roche detected no enthusiasm over it.

across table for the sugar bowl, but she swished her newspaper and scowled. And upon departing was almost tempted to say: "My error, a chimney and was looking dizzily into the street below. This was

The impulse suddenly to leap

ELIMINATE CAUSE OF HEAD-ACHES

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

In ancient times it was believed headaches were due to evil spirits within the head. The cure for headaches in that day consisted in boring holes through the skull, so that the spirits might escape. We have testimony of this practice in the borings found in skulls recovered in recent excavations.

Modern civilization has not removed these evil spirits and yet we suffer from headaches! Instead of the drilling to relieve the pain we moderns resort to all sorts of patent medicines. I wonder if this practice is not just as silly.

The drug habit is an exceedingly dangerous practice. Medicines that relieve headaches merely remove the pain; the cause of the headache is left untouched. Further, the habit of taking to medicines for the relief of pain is likely to be injurious to the health.

Headache is not a disease. It is a sign that some part of the body is not working properly. Headache may be caused by various disorders of the body. Anemia, high blood pressure, kidney disease, sinusitis and defective eyesight are some of the common causes. Constipation, digestive disorders, slouching posture in walking and standing—and in women, uterine diseases, frequently cause headaches.

In young children, headache is one of the first signs of some infectious disease. It should never be ignored and the temperature should be taken at once. If the headache persists, the pulse is rapid and the child has temperature, send for your doctor at once. Where severe venturing is present in addition to the above picture, never delay in consulting your physician.

There is a distinct type of headache which seems to run in families. This is spoken of as "migraine." Little is known of this condition outside of the fact that it does occur in families and is believed to be hereditary.

The tendency is there all the time but many things can bring on an attack of migraine. Such factors as powerful emotional disturbances of any type, severe mental or physical fatigue and digestive disturbances are the most common causes.

Migraine attacks are more or less periodic. They may occur on the same day every week, or every two weeks, or about once a month. The individual usually knows in advance about when he will have an attack.

In view of the fact that most headaches of this sort are usually associated with some nausea and at times venturing, people believe that it is due to some error in diet. This is not true. Gastro-intestinal disturbances are usually present as a sign of the trouble, but they are not the cause of the headache.

The underlying cause of the headache must be determined and removed if possible. Until then we may not say we are "curing" the headache. No permanent relief from headaches will be accomplished unless this is done.

In general, avoidance of excitement, regularity in meals, proper bowel elimination and moderation in diet are the most important rules to follow. Some persons are benefited by a strictly vegetable diet and the taking of alkaline waters.
The treatment of all cases depends entirely on the removal of the cause upon which the attacks depend.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, October 28

The lunar transits bearing result on this day point to many conflicting and disappointing events and circumstances. There is a menace of loss through litigation, speculation, bad contracts and unwise use of moneys in many directions. Beware of false repute, treachery, misunderstandings and sign all writings with extreme precaution.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year calling for excellent judgment, wise counsel and extreme personal precaution, as there is a menace of unfavorable litigation, loss through bad contracts, fraud and duplicity. Sign all writings cautiously and refrain from law and speculation. A child born on this day may incline to speculation chance and extravagant indulgence, thereby squandering its substance and possibly inviting litigation and misunderstandings.

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Woman Is Burned To Death As Machine Blazes After Hitting Street Car

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Edna R. Watson, 30, was burned to death under a blazing automobile and her companion, William Rotolo, 27, was instantly killed when their car crashed into a street car and overturned here yesterday.

The motorman of the street car said Rotolo trying to pass another automobile, swung too far to the left, sideswiping the street car and turning over his own machine on the curb.

Mrs. Watson's charred body was found under a rear wheel of the wreckage which had burst into flames after the crash. Rotolo was thrown clear of the wreck but was killed instantly.

Speed Kings Gather For Akron Navy Day

(By Associated Press)
AKRON, O., Oct. 27.—Akron observed navy day by assembling four of the country's air speed kings and Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, in an elaborate program.

Alford J. Williams, James H. Doolittle, Clarence W. Holman and Leo Schoenhar, four of the nation's best known pilots, were scheduled for stunts and races at the municipal airport in the afternoon and speeches at a dinner tonight.

Schoenhar cut out a special program for himself—an attempt to bring the 1,000 mile-per-hour speed mark back to the United States. The present international record is held by Ferdinand Lasne of France, with an average of better than 154 miles an hour.

Schoenhar planned his attempt at noon, zipping around a triangle having Akron, Canton and Massillon as its corners.

excessive naval burdens. Three of these powers commanding the largest part of the world's naval forces have turned away from rivalry in armaments, and disproportionate growth of their navies is now prevented by an arrangement founded in common sense.

Armament Race Ends

"This relinquishment of competitive building among the three great naval powers with its consequent contribution to the security of the world is the greatest significance of this treaty. If the limitations now established can be maintained we may look forward with assurance to the fact that future conferences will find it easier to bring about further steps in reduction. It is the fervent prayer of right-thinking men and women of this generation that the international confidence which has been so patiently and single-mindedly achieved may endure so that the agreements which have been reached may live and be extended. Never again must a race in naval armaments be allowed to develop.

France and Italy are not as yet full partners in the London treaty. They have been making active efforts within the last few months to arrive at a complete understanding. The people of Great Britain, Japan and the United States, and indeed the peoples of the whole world have watched those efforts and confidently hope that patience and good-will may yet lead to a solution.

"The session of the five powers at London have saved to strengthen mutual trust and confidence among them and they give me assurance that the hopes of the world will not be disappointed. It is a pleasure to felicitate the peoples of Great Britain and Japan, and the people of this country upon the conclusion of a stand and reasonable agreement between them, fair to all and dangerous to none, which has been accepted by each nation as affording adequate protection and which substitutes for suspicion and competition mutual trust, good-will and confidence. Let this day fill us with thanks and inspire us to go forward with the courage of hope."

JERSEY CITY.—From one who ought to know comes the statement that Dwight W. Morrow "has a sense of time." For illustration, said this person, "think of the men's dinners which begin at 7 and go into all hours of the morning with five times as many speakers as necessary speaking five times more than any one wants to listen to and five times as long as any body could stand." The remarks were made to the Jersey City Women's club. The speaker was Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

POMONA GRANGE VOTES WILL GO TO PROHIBITION

Ballot Plans Discussed At Session Held At Greenford

Mahoning county Pomona grange members will cast ballots Nov. 4 for candidates who favor prohibition.

This announcement was made following a meeting of Pomona Saturday at Greenford grange hall, a report to this effect having been made by the resolution committee and accepted by the grange.

The tax committee of Pomona recommended that each subordinate grange appoint a committee to keep a record of all real estate sales between now and the reapportionment of property. This plan was adopted.

Judge George H. Ganser, of Youngstown, was the main speaker on the afternoon program.

Mr. Fullerton, member of the state executive committee of the Pennsylvania grange, a guest at this meeting, gave a talk. In his talk he admonished the grangers to "be sure and vote."

Selections were given by a quartet from Greenford grange, composed of Mr. Beardsley and daughter, Mary; Mr. Dively and Mrs. Colburn.

A candle lighting service featured his program. Miss Naomi Shinn offered a vocal solo and songs were sung by the entire group.

At the evening session a class of 24 candidates was given a fifth degree. The work was put on by a team composed of members from most of the granges in Pomona.

The next meeting will be at Dublin grange hall, at Canfield, on Saturday, Nov. 29.

Salem High Clashes With Wellsville In Sixth Game Of Year

THE DAY In Sports

FEW BIG GAMES
SCHEDULED SATURDAY

Saturday will be one of those strange days in middle of football season when few "big games" are played. There is a distinct let-down in the furious tempo of the sport, with most of the leading eleven taking a breather.

It used to be that the outstanding teams could point for the season's end and one climactic game. But the sport has become so popular and so wide-spread that this no longer is possible, and many teams have their hardest games — and some of their most important — early in the season.

EARLY GAMES NOT PRACTICE

Moreover, it no longer is possible to consider early season games as practice. There are so many good football teams going around that a club must watch its step — and the enemy's pass receivers — every minute.

Saturday, however, is in the nature of an off day. In the East, the best battles should be between Carnegie Tech and N. Y. U. and between Yale and Dartmouth. The Army is taking a badly needed breather, meeting North Dakota. Harvard plays William and Mary. Cornell will romp over Columbia.

The Yale-Dartmouth game should produce fireworks. The Green Beret cut to average last year's last-minute defeat and stop Albion Booth. Lots of teams have had the latter intention.

YALE FOOTED DARTMOUTH

It will be recalled that Dartmouth thought she had Yale licked last year, Booth and all. The little club had scored a touchdown and assisted in the making of some more points, but Dartmouth led 12-10 in the closing minutes and the Hanoverians were beginning to tune up for a chant of victory. And then a substitute quarterback (and we won't mention his name, hoping you've forgotten it) hurled a long forward pass into Yale territory. One of these football errors which sometimes are exposed with such appalling abruptness.

Heel Ellis, a Yale back, who had been caught out of position by the play, happened, therefore to be right at the spot where the ball was sailing through the twilight. Heel grabbed it and set out on the dead run for the Dartmouth goal line, some 80 or 90 yards away. He made it, and Yale won.

It was a grave mistake on the part of the Dartmouth quarterback, but it was sheer tragedy for him to have his error turned into a touchdown.

LEETONIA

The Thursday Reading club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Emma and Miss Nelle Adams. The subject for discussion was, "Modern Youth." Mrs. Nellie Conrad read a paper on "Egotism." A paper on "Its Purpose" was given by Mrs. Inez, McInnis Response to roll call were "Our Educational Advantages."

Mrs. W. E. Elwinger entertained bridge club associates at her home Wednesday evening with two tables in play. Mrs. Lawrence Berg and Mrs. C. S. Angler were prize winners.

Members of Friendship club and friends held a nutrition meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred and Mrs. Ella Stiller, south of town, Thursday. The members were instructed in the planning and serving of breakfast.

The first meeting for the fall and winter months of the Leetonia Choral union was held at St. Paul's Lutheran chapel Thursday evening at 7:30. J. S. Hall is director of the club and Mrs. Charles Steltz accompanist. Lunch served.

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Paul's Lutheran church held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. C. W. Lodge Thursday afternoon. The hostess served lunch.

Mrs. Agnes O'Neill and Mrs. Thomas Cavanaugh entertained members and friends of the Altar society of St. Patrick's church at the Popperney rooms Thursday afternoon. Five tables of 500 were in play. Mrs. M. E. Sullivan won high score. Mrs. J. V. Fisher and Miss Katherine Barrett will entertain the club at the home of Mrs. Fisher next Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lode Lodge entertained friends and neighbors at a barn dance in their new barn, south of town Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bumell and son were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Meyers, south of town, Thursday evening.

Edward Stouffer, a senior at Leetonia High school and a member of the football squad was taken to Salem City hospital where it was found the main bone of his right leg was splintered. The accident occurred last Saturday in the Leetonia-Salmeville game.

Chester E. Riley and Willis Post left Thursday morning for Greenfield, Mo., where Mr. Riley had been called by the death of his sister.

Relatives have received word that Charles Holt of Washingtonville sustained an injury to his foot while at work at a coal mine.

Mrs. Raymond Baker and Mrs. William Kyser were Salem visitors Thursday.

Stonemen Journey To South End Of County For Important Battle

An undefeated Wellsville High grid eleven faces Floyd Stone's Salem football charges in the Red and Black's seventh game of the 1930 campaign at Wellsville's home gridiron next Saturday afternoon.

Rated as the best Orange and Black combination since 1923, when Wellsville trimmed Salem High by a 19-0 score, the southern Columbiana county aggregation is expected to stop the Stonemen's run of consecutive victories and take another step towards a claim to the county championship.

Wellsville won its fifth straight victory by handing a strong Toronto team a 6-0 setback Saturday and rates a high place among contenders for the mythical grid title in the county if such a crown is to be awarded this season.

Second County Game It will be the second county contest for the Quakers, the game with Lisbon in a night battle at Reilly athletic stadium, being the last of the series. Wellsville, East Liverpool and East Palestine, with Salem, are rated as the county's strongest teams. Liverpool lost its second game of the season Saturday, being defeated by Bellaire, 14-6 while East Palestine, using its second-stringers most of the contest, ran up a 27-0 score on Leetonia.

Salem does not play either East Palestine or Liverpool this year, making it impossible for the Stonemen to claim county laurels unless they trim Wellsville and the Orange and Black in turn defeats East Liverpool in the annual Turkey Day match between these southern county rivals. If Palestine wins over Liverpool, however, the former will have a strong basis upon which to claim the crown.

Coach Stone, though, is not greatly concerned over the county contest. His charges will be directed to register a decisive victory over both Wellsville and Lisbon but no battle will put up in the annual debate on what school merits titular honors. Salem has greater work out for it this year than that involving county competition.

One big important affair facing the Quakers is its ambition to win the Big Ten district championship for a second consecutive year. County titles were won with such frequency that the school lost interest in the race but with the formation of this new league, interest is being concentrated in that direction, especially since the 1929 campaign when the Stonemen won the league grid title.

Big Ten Race Salem's all-important victory over Warren advanced it into the front ranks of the Big Ten teams, but Massillon and Alliance are still in the titular race. Massillon eliminated Barberton by a decisive score last week while Alliance has yet to lose a league game although it lost to Akron East, one of Ohio's strongest interscholastic teams, by a 15-7 score Saturday. Massillon is to play Warren and Dover yet this season and Alliance opposes New Philadelphia in its second Big Ten game.

The Alliance game is scheduled for the Red and Black at the Stark county school's home balliwick on Thanksgiving Day morning and it will without doubt be the result of that battle which decides which of these teams is the title-winner.

Before the Alliance game is considered though, Salem will have to trim Wellsville and then work will start for another big game, which, next to the Alliance contest, is the most important of the Red and Black season. It is that which brings the Stonemen into competition with Buxy Ashbaugh's powerful Youngstown South team on November 8 at Youngstown.

South Trims Warren While Salem registered an unimpressive victory over East High Friday night, the Southern "lucks" their way to a victory over Warren. The Trumbull countians outplayed South all the way but were unable to score an intercepted pass, accounting for the only touchdown. South, though, is reported to have been off-color and off key, just as Salem was against East.

A game scheduled Saturday which fans here will watch with interest is the battle between South and East. Campbell Memorial plays at East Palestine while Struthers, undoubtedly the most formidable scholastic team in this section, meets Niles at Niles. Boardman meets Sebring and East Liverpool meets the Canton Bulldogs at McKinley's field.

Lisbon plays at Warren and Alliance journeys to New Philly for its second Big Ten game. New Castle, Pa. which lost its first game of the season Friday night to Washington, Pa., entertains Rochester.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torrid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" — bad breath — a dull, tired feeling — sick headache — torrid liver — constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. Be free of it.

SEBRING TRIMS LISBON ELEVEN

LISBON, Oct. 27.—Sebring High footballers triumphed over the Lisbon eleven in a well-played game here Saturday afternoon. The score was 19-6.

Sebring assumed the lead early, and while Lisbon put up a hard fight, they were unable to overcome the margin. Cannall registered first when Cannall went over from a march down the field. A short pass, Cannall to Eells, netted the second marker in the second quarter, while in the last period Bromlow scored for Sebring.

Williams registered Lisbon's lone marker.

Wisconsin-Ohio State Battle Heads Grid Menu This Week

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—Singularly devoid of outstanding games, the next football week-end in Ohio apparently will depend for thrills on the one big shot—Wisconsin at Ohio State.

Except for the Miami-Ashland game at Oxford, there seems to be no game involving two important teams and hardly any capable of producing scores except among teams already trampled beyond recognition.

Miami and Ashland, however, should have a pretty match. Miami lost to Ohio University 27 to 6 last Saturday but all the Bobcat touchdowns came as a result of fumbles and intercepted passes, indicating Miami's ability to defend against sustained drives.

Ashland also had a sturdy defense. No one has scored on it this season.

Colorful Battles Traditional games and others worthy of colorful play should be many next week-end. Foremost is the Western Reserve-Ohio Wesleyan game on Delaware's homecoming day. Reserve despite four terrific beatings by Muskingum, Pittsburgh, Ohio and Carnegie Tech, the last by 40 to 8 last Saturday has passed the first of its schedule, but probably won't be able to hold the high-overs who won a nice 21 to 12 victory over Simpson college of Iowa last week-end.

Ohio assumed command of the Buckeye conference race with its victory over Miami and has only Ohio Wesleyan to beat before taking its second championship. The Bobcats play Cincinnati Saturday. Cincinnati won its first victory over 13 to 6, but cannot hope to cope with Ohio. Denison plays Otterbein Saturday and expects to win a game for the first time this year.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

What's Absolutely Fast Color?

One of the pleasant surprises of recent seasons has been the large variety of fast colors and patterns. The old legend, that only imported fabrics could be depended on for color has been dispelled, and apparently the great German dye secrets are secrets no more.

But there is a difference between fast colors. "Commercially fast," and "Guaranteed Fast" are not exactly the same thing. As for any color being permanently fast, that is dubious, to say the least. The fact is that one must not expect too much. There was the case of the householder who complained that her window curtains had faded after four years of use. She had had them made to order very carefully, they were especially handsome drapes, and she was bitterly disappointed that they did not last forever.

No color will. Strong sunlight is bound to have an effect on any fabric or color, eventually, and the new kind of glass made to admit the maximum of light-giving sun rays, will work greater havoc than ever on delicate shades.

However, there is some protection in purchasing fabrics that are guaranteed fast color. That assures a reasonable amount of wear, and a replacement in case of inadvertent inferiority. For accidents will happen in the best bit of dyeing.

If the draperies are special favorites and of such expensive fabric that replacement is inadvisable, then one can call in the expert renovators. Some shops have a special department devoted to the renewing of draperies that are good as far as the wearing quality of the fabric goes, but which have faded. This costs much less than replacement and is often worth while.

Screens Charming, Screens Useful

Why is a screen? Geography, custom, art, govern the answer. To the Orientals, a screen is a beautiful movable wall, partitioning space quickly into the kind and size of room required. In medieval times the ponderous screen was both essential and esthetic. Of heavy wood and tapestry it provided design and color in huge, stone-flagged rooms, and also, its sturdy bulk was a wall between chilly draughts from doors and apertures and the warm hearth. To the Elizabethan dramatist the screen was one of the main props, quite indispensable, for here was the scene of the chief intrigue.

What would earlier designers say to the modern screen, which is used for innumerable purposes—all except the functions of an earlier era. Today's screen may be purely decorative against sombre walls. Or it divides a large living-room in one of

"THE BIG HOUSE"

At The Grand

"The Big House," much heralded drama of penitentiary life and prison riots, is the attraction which opens tonight at the Grand theater.

The picture is a sensational expose of the cause leading to recent prison riots, climaxed with an actual riot in which a hundred men battle. Prisoners in revolt are besieged in a cell house, where they kill guards and drop them out one by one until quelled with army tanks. As a contrast a romantic love story is woven into the grim tale.

Chester Morris, Wallace Beery and Robert Montgomery play the three central roles as the convict cell mates, and Leila Hyams appears as the heroine, whose love eventually redeems Morris.

A sensational mess hall riot, escape of Morris in the prison morgue van, his capture, his rescue of the guards during the riot, are salient points in the picture.

"EYES OF THE WORLD"

At The State

No picture of recent date has so faithfully captured the scenic splendour of nature and so ably utilized it in the enticement of romance and drama as "Eyes of the World."

Under the expert direction of Henry King maker of many screen epics, and the capable acting of Ursula Merkel, John Holland, Nance O'Neil and Brandon Hurst, the picture is superb entertainment, appealing both to the eye and the emotion.

There are moments of rare pastoral beauty in the picture especially in the love scenes which are placed sympathetically against a background of gorgeous trees and eye-filling vistas. There are powerful dramatic scenes and thrilling, breath-taking rides and at the end a touch of sublimity.

Director King has made a motion picture that is fit company for his other achievements. "The White Sister," "Tolable David," "Stella Dallas" and "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

The story of "Eyes of the World" was adapted from the novel by Harold Bell Wright and recounts the simple saga of a young, unsophisticated mountain girl who experiences the joys and pains of love for the first time.
